Breakout Session Descriptions

HR Session: The Business of People

How people decisions impact performance, growth, and risk

Suzanne Kirk | Theater Plus 1

Are people part of your strategic plan? Is your culture evident in your employees' experiences? Many business challenges don't start with finances or operational strategy, they start with people. From poorly defined hiring practices, to unclear expectations, to performance issues that go unaddressed, people problems quietly drain time, morale, and money. This session reframes HR as a strategic leadership and business focus, helping attendees understand how the lifecycle of performance management decisions impacts culture, growth, retention, and risk. Walk away with a clearer, more confident approach to managing people without turning your business into a rulebook.

Marketing Session: Be the Answer AI Recommends

How to Stand Out in a World of Generative Search

Nadia Osman | Theater Plus 2

Search is changing and the rules for being found are changing with it. Instead of returning long lists of links, AI tools like ChatGPT, Claude, Copilot and Google's AI Overviews generate direct answers and recommendations. That means your business needs more than keywords to show up, you need to be recognizable, relevant and easy for AI to explain. In this session, you will learn how smart search engines interpret your online presence and walk away with practical steps to improve your visibility, positioning and discoverability in a world where AI is answering first.

Finance Session: Inside the Lender's Decision

How Business Loans Really Get Approved

The Ladies Who Lend | Theater Plus 3

Securing capital isn't about luck—it's about preparation. This session demystifies how lenders evaluate loan requests, beginning with the foundational 5 C's of Credit and how they are applied in real lending decisions. Local and regional lenders will discuss a range of financing options, including traditional bank loans, SBA programs, and lesser-known alternative funding solutions. Attendees will leave with a clearer understanding of what lenders look for, how to position their business for approval, and which funding paths may be a better fit than they previously realized.
